

UCA Redress Limited

Annual report: 2022 – 2023

Trigger warning

Please be aware this document contains reference to accounts of child sexual abuse which may be distressing for some people. We recognise the significance of survivor stories and acknowledge the strength and resilience shown by survivors to bravely share their stories.

For support, please contact 000 (for emergencies), Lifeline 13 11 14 or Blue Knot Foundation 1300 657 380.

Acknowledgements

We acknowledge the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples of this nation.

We acknowledge the traditional custodians of the lands on which our company is located and where we conduct our business in locations across the country. We pay our respects to ancestors and Elders, past and present.

We are committed to honouring Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples' unique cultural and spiritual relationships to the land, waters and seas and their rich contribution to society.

We acknowledge Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children entrusted to the care of the Church did not always receive the care they deserved, and we acknowledge the enduring impact of those traumas that were experienced.

We acknowledge the ongoing trauma caused by the separation of children from families and communities.

We acknowledge the terrible breaches of trust which were experienced by individuals and communities and commit to learning from past mistakes to create a culture of safety in all settings of our organisation.

Our commitment

We will hear and keep the stories

We will apologise

We will make change

Through redress, we acknowledge and address past wrongs and bring change for our future through truth, justice and healing.

Redress takes us forward to...

- » a place of reconciliation with those who have suffered
- » a place where relationships are rebuilt and trust is restored in our Church, its leaders and agencies
- » a place where all can thrive as we learn from – and never forget – the past.

Who we are

UCA Redress Limited responds to and supports survivors of child sexual abuse suffered through the Uniting Church or its institutions, including by participation in a nationally consistent equitable redress scheme.

We are a national body and a company limited by guarantee established by the Uniting Church in Australia.

Our team of National Director and Administrator are advised by a five-member board of Church and independent representatives.

We work to principles of good redress - being restorative, survivor focused, trauma-informed and culturally safe and appropriate.

Justice is part of our DNA, permeating our practice and lived out through our actions.

The Uniting Church in Australia commenced participation in the National Redress Scheme in March 2019.

The Scheme acknowledges that many children were sexually abused in Australian institutions. It holds institutions accountable for this abuse and helps people who have experienced institutional child sexual abuse gain access to counselling, a direct personal response and a redress payment.

What we do

Our work includes:

- Facilitating the Church's participation in the National Redress Scheme
- Supporting Synods and institutions in providing direct personal response to survivors
- Contributing to awareness and understanding about redress, abuse and child safety
- Informing policy and decision making through data and learnings
- Evolving to meet the needs of Synods, the Assembly and other institutions of the Church, including national consistent practice.

A message from our board

December 2022 marked five years since the final reports of the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse. This was an opportunity to pause and reflect on how much things have changed in the way institutions respond to historical abuse. The Uniting Church, through UCA Redress Ltd is deeply committed to being an active participant in the National Redress Scheme and strives to continually improve the work we do.

We are halfway through the life of the National Redress Scheme, which also gives pause for reflection. With over 28,000 applications to the Scheme to date, noting a significant increase in applications since early 2022, it is still well short of the projected 60,000 estimated by the Royal Commission.

We know that there are many reasons people may not come forward with an application, but we know how quickly time passes. With applications due to close on 30 June 2027, we encourage people to find out about their options and to take action early. We continue to monitor numbers of new applications closely, in readiness to respond as quickly as possible to meet statutory timeframes and to ensure we are not adding unnecessarily to the length of time taken to process redress applications.

This year saw the release of the Government's Final Response to the Two Year Review of the National Redress Scheme. We were pleased to see actions to be taken aimed at making the process simpler for applicants.

We note the work of the Parliamentary Joint Standing Committee into the National Redress Scheme and look forward to participating in the committee's processes as appropriate.

I thank my fellow board members, the Members and Member Representatives of UCA Redress Ltd and our staff for their ongoing commitment to the work of UCA Redress Ltd. Melia Benn completed her term as Board Appointed Director in April. Melia made a valuable contribution in her three years on the Board and we wish her every success in her future endeavours.

We welcomed Rue Masunungure as Board Appointed Director in April and look forward to Rue's contribution to the work of UCA Redress Ltd. We thank the Nominations Committee Chair, Paul Linossier, and Member, Rev David de Kock, for their significant contributions to the work and good governance of the Company this year.

As we approach the five year anniversary of the national apology to survivors of institutional child sexual abuse in October 2023, we reflect on the stories we have heard, and those still to come. Every story is important, and deeply valued. Though time passes, we will never forget the wrongs of the past and we will continue to bear witness.

Anne Cross AM, Chair

Melia Benn, Board appointed director (until 7 April 2023)

Colleen Geyer, Assembly General Secretary

Peter Roach, Synod member director

Robert Watson, Synod member director

Rue Masunungure, Board appointed director (from 7 April 2023)

Leadership

Sarah Lim National Director

Bachelor of Arts/Laws (Hons), Graduate Diploma Legal Practice, Master of Laws, Graduate of Australian Institute of Company Directors, Graduate Certificate Leadership

Following a career in social policy and legislation review and development in the Queensland Government, Sarah commenced with UnitingCare Queensland in 2013. Her role included monitoring and understanding the lessons coming out of the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse and their impact across the breadth of UnitingCare Queensland services. During this time, Sarah worked with many survivors of abuse seeking to engage with UnitingCare Queensland. Sarah is Chair of the Forde Foundation Board of Advice, a charitable trust established by the Queensland Government to provide micro-grants to Forgotten Australians and care leavers to assist them with their needs. Sarah is deeply committed to the needs of survivors of institutional abuse and restoration of relationships for survivors, the Church and the broader community.

Annette Fuller Administrator

Bachelor of Arts, Master of Human Services, Certificate in Governance Practice

Annette has worked extensively in the human services sector in both service delivery and strategic policy roles. Annette provided direct services in the disability and domestic and family violence sectors and her work in strategic policy was undertaken in State government and with UnitingCare Queensland. Her role with UnitingCare Queensland involved contributing to UnitingCare Queensland's analysis and responses to the work of the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse and she was also responsible for locating records and responding to former out-of-home care residents seeking access to information about their time in care. Annette commenced her role with UCA Redress Limited in April 2019 and is committed to supporting survivor focused outcomes by ensuring efficient and effective processing of applications for redress from the National Redress Scheme related to Uniting Church in Australia institutions.

Governance statement

Board composition

The UCA Redress Limited constitution requires the company to have five directors, comprising:

- Chair appointed by members
- One director appointed by the Assembly Member
- Two directors elected collectively by the Synod members
- One person appointed by the Board.

Board operations

The Board is committed to delivering excellence in governance and prioritises high standards of accountability, transparency and integrity. They guide and monitor the management of the company and are responsible for approving the company's strategic direction and governance.

The National Director provides the Board with updates in relation to:

- the strategic plan and financial reports
- progress against the strategic and operational plans
- participation of the Uniting Church in Australia in the National Redress Scheme.

The Board meets regularly in scheduled meetings, with strategic planning and continuing education sessions undertaken at additional sessions.

Nominations Committee

The Board established this committee as required by the UCA Redress Limited constitution. This committee has terms of reference which set out the authority delegated to it by the Board and its operations. The Committee is focused on the composition and performance of the Board.

The Committee comprises of three people; two, including the Chair, must be independent of the company. Members of the Committee, including the Chair, are appointed and removed by the Board.

Anne Cross AM continues as the Board's nominee to the Nominations Committee, with Paul Linossier (Chair) and David de Kock appointed from August 2022.

National Director

This is a Board appointed position and is subject to an annual performance review by the Board. The National Director leads UCA Redress Limited, recommends strategic and policy direction for Board approval, and provides business and operational plans to deliver agreed outcomes.
